Cathy specializes in treating trauma resolution and attachment problems in children and adolescents. She is level II trained and certified in EMDR. Cathy is one of the co-founders of The Attachment and Trauma Center of Nebraska and helped develop the EMDR and Family Therapy Integrative Model: Treatment for Attachment Trauma in Children research project and co-facilitates 3-day trainings for the protocol around the country. She facilitates the Facilitating Attachment in Children parent training class and has expertise in Mindfulness and Dialectical Behavior Therapy. Cathy has presented her expertise in treating and parenting traumatized children to parent and professional groups at the national conference for the Association for the Treatment and Training of Attachment in Children (ATTACH), at the 2010 Nebraska Counseling Association Conference and numerous Nebraska Foster & Adoptive Parent Association conferences.

Cathy has fourteen years experience in both public and private school education. After earning her master's degree, she worked as a counselor for the Omaha Public School System for ten years.
